

Maindec Announces HP9000® Support

Software Support

Maindec's Engineers are always trained to understand the Operating System (OS) of any system they are required to support and the HP 9000® HP-UX® is no exception. This enables Maindec to rapidly diagnose the cause of any system problem enabling greater system availability.

In addition Maindec can deliver via their specialist Software Partner – Telephone Software Support that mirrors the manufacturers offering ensuring that your service is identical but service quality is improved and more cost effective.

Maindec have recently announced the expansion of their hardware maintenance support capability to include all of the HP9000® range.

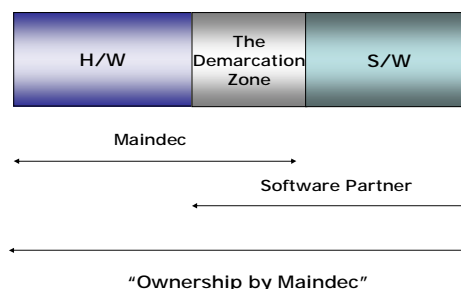

Mark Hodge the Technical Director of Maindec Computer Solutions commented " This product line fits perfectly within our portfolio of services. Maindec has a vast history of supporting the legacy Vax® and current HP Alpha® range and as this technology transitions to Itanium along with The HP9000® and HP-UX®, then this is a natural addition to Maindec's Service Portfolio".

Maindec Computer Solutions currently support legacy Dec®, current HP Alpha® and Sun® Systems along with Dell®, IBM® Intel and HP® Intel systems with additional support for Storage and HP Storage Area Networks (SAN's)

Maindec's 26 year history is founded on maintaining small, medium and Business Critical Servers and Maindec's existing Infrastructure of 7 UK regional Service Centres and 110+ engineers will be utilised to Support the HP 9000® range of Unix® Computer systems.

Maindec's Partner Development Manager Andy Tyrrell stated "Maindec have been supporting Unix based systems for over 10 years now including some HP9000® systems but now the maintenance of the HP9000® systems are "Business As Usual" and Maindec can deliver Service on a UK wide basis. We have often been asked to maintain HP9000 systems by our Clients and Partners because they want a 'One Stop Shop' – well I am delighted to say, now we can!"

THE COMPLETE SOLUTION

Maindec pride themselves on their range of Service Level Agreements (SLA's) which further differentiates their Service. Maindec can deliver a 2 hour response and / or four hour fix contracts, in fact Maindec can design and deliver a service that matches your exact business needs.

Maindec is one of the leading Independent Computer Service Companies in the UK, Maindec is a company that is clearly and exclusively focused on the building of long term relationships, enabling the consistent delivery of advanced, leading edge solutions and services guaranteed to provide and exceed customer satisfaction.

If you would like further information please call 01628 810977